SPORT

Coach H. F. Schulte is planning to give the Tigers only light workouts in the few remaining days before the Kansas game. He is taking no chances on further injury to any of his men by having them in scrimmage. Signal practice every afternoon and blackboard talks each evening are the coach's plans.

The cloudy weather and general rainy appearance of today has caused no joy in the Tiger camp. With a knowledge that they are outweighed several pounds to the man, the Tigers are not anxious to give the Jayhawkers the extra advantage of a muddy field. The old saying that if it rains on Monday it will rain three days in the week is causing the Tigers to try to lose their faith in proverbs. However, a general air of determination is apparent in the Tiger camp—the same attitude that always causes the Turkey Day battle to be so bitterly contested.

Bass and Schroeder Will Not Play.

The injured regulars are slowly coming back into shape, and all, with the exception of Bass and Schroeder, will be ready for the game. Rider's carbuncle is well, and with Viner's ankle healing in good shape, the backfield will be able to start against Kansas intact. In the line Bass' place will be hardest to fill. His place will be taken by Chittenden, who has been playing guard, and in his guard position will be Tom Berry. Urie will be at the other tackle, with Kirkpatrick at guard. Captain Hamilton will play center.

Tiger Line Will Average About 170.

These five men, who will make up the center of the line, will average barely 170 pounds, but each is a fighter of known quality. Kansas gains through that section will come, if at all, only after a hard fight.

Says Kansas Will Use Many Substitutes.

Here's what a writer in the Daily Kansas says about the Kansas team in connection with the struggle here Thursday:

The Jayhawk forces are fast rounding into form for the final clash of the season with the Tigers on Rollins Field at Columbia Thanksgiving Day. The Jayhawk regulars got into action Wednesday for the first time since the battle with the Cornhuskers last Saturday. A practice has been held every afternoon, however, but Coach Jay Bond has been working out his strong substitutes. In the scrimmages the last two nights the second string players have been smashing through the strong freshman line more successfully than the regulars did a couple of weeks ago.

Coach Bond anticipates using a large number of substitutes in the clash with the Tigers providing the Jayhawk machine succeeds in piling up a substantial lead in the first part of the game. Football critics, who watched the second string backfield work out against the freshmen who were using Tiger formations yesterday, believe the players were practically as good as the regular backfield men.

The substitute backfield which the Kansas mentor has been using is composed of Marquis, 135-pound quarter who is fast and heady; Idol and Bunn, left halfbacks; Casey, right halfback and Simons, fullback. All of these players showed up exceptionally, and will likely get into the battle at Columbia at least for a few minutes.

The good showing of the second string players is partly accounted for by the fact they were using formations which have been prepared for the special benefit of the Tiger aggregation. When the regular Jayhawk machine puts the special formations into action Coach Bond believes the Tiger machine will have to have a mighty good defense to resist the attack.

Mandeville, the promising open field runner of the Jayhawk eleven, is still out of the scrimmages with the ankle which he sprained in the Oklahoma game, but it is possible he will get into the scrimmage tomorrow. Dennis, who was also kept out of the Nebraska game with a sprained ankle, limbered up on the track yesterday.

All the other members of the squad are in fighting trim and anxious for the Missouri game. The consensus of opinion of the players is that the Tiger game will be a hard one, and everyone is training up to the best possible condition.
